

From: Cheryl Lee
To: NSW_LRC
Subject: Law Reform
Date: Thursday, 4 April 2019 4:51:08 PM

Hello to whom it may concern,

Im a sixty four year old grandmother and I would really like to see the law that protects the names of teenagers that commit any serious crime changed.

I can't imagine how frightening it would be to find out that your child was spending time with a teenager that had raped a young girl, but it must be better than this teenager dragging you child into their ways and crime.

I believe by protecting teens that commit serious crime other young people may form friendships with somebody they may never have associated with had they known about their past.

We should change the law and stop protecting the criminals regardless of age. A ten year old knows when they have done something wrong. If they think their going to be protected they will never worry about doing the wrong thing.

We should be protecting the innocent and keep them on the straight and narrow.

Thank you for letting me have my say.

Cheryl Lee

Sent from my iPad